DOMINO WON THE FUTURITY

Though Carrying the Top Weight He Defeated Nineteen Good Competitors.

Galilee Gave Him a Hard Fight at the Finish and Was Only a Head Behind-Trotting at Fleetwood and Columbus.

SHEEPSHEAD BAY FUTURITY.

The Rich Prize Won by Domino, with Gallles Only a Head Behind.

SHEEPSHEAD BAY, Ang. 20.-Domino proved himself to be the worthy son of a noble sire to-day by winning the great Futurity stakes from a field of nineteen competitors. He carried the top weight, too, and was delayed at the post nearly half an hour. Besides this, the track was sticky and heavy. In short, it was just the day for a light weight, but he vanquished all of them, though one of them, Gahlee, gave him a hard fight for over a furlong, and was only a head behind at the finish.

It was the sixth of the Futurity series of races and the best of any of them. It was the richest, too, for the gross value of the stake was $65,665. It was divided as follows: $49,715 to Domino and $4,000 to his breeder; $65,215 to Galilee and $5,335,33 to his breeder; $2,666.57 to Dobbins and $1,000 to his breeder.

The fear that a tornado was due and might visit the track during the afternoon no doubt deterred many from going to the track. At all events it was the poorest Futurity crowd of the lot. Eight thousand would be a liberal estimate of the number of people who saw the great event. The field was the largest that ever started in Futurity race. Domino was the public favorite, and though nearly every horse in the race was well backed he carried the bulk of the money, and as much as 7 to 5 was laid against his chances. Rey El Santa and supported in the books.

There was no parade of the starters, as the day was waning and it was advisable to get them to the post and away from it as quickly as possible. After a delay of nearly half an hour at the post, Rowe caught them all in motion like a cavairy line and down went the flag and they were off. The ends of the line closed in and the lot bunched up in a sort of funnel shape. Then Dobbins collided with Hyderabad and knocked Overton, his jockey, to the ground, but he was not burt seriously. Taral took Domino to the front at once, and led at the first clump of trees. hotly pressed by Galilee, who was running like a deer. The others were clamoring at their heels like a drove of wild horses. The race was particularly between the pair. At the bend of the track at the head of the home stretch Galilee took the lead, and Dobbins had his head on a line with Domino's saddle girth. It looked desperate for the favorite for a moment, but the greatest jockey in America was on his back and he began riding him with all his power and skill. Heel and whip were used to such advantage that in another moment Domino began wearing his down, regaining his lost ground. The instant he poked his nose in front of Galilee a great shout went up. It was a borse race, and everybody realized it. In the last furlong Griffin used every endeavor to keep Galilee in the van, but it was a Lilliputian against a giant, and Taral drove the gallant Domino home under such a hail of punishment that he won by a nose on the very post. Griffin, by one last despairing effort, landed Galilee a head before Dobbins. None but the judges could tell who had won, and when Domino's number was hoisted on high the most extravagant kind of a demonstration ensued. Taral was presented with $5,000 by the Messrs. Keene. As Mr. Keene wandered across the grounds after the race, shaking bands with his friends, he came scross Mr. Croker and Mr. Dwyer. Their greeting was most cordial and their congratulations of the warmest. "I think Dobbins can best Domino, the same weights and race over again, and I would not mind betting $25,000 on it," said Mr. Dwyer. Mr. Keene his willingness to make a match, but there was a misunderstanding as to the jockeys, both parties expressing their preference for Taral. Taralisunderengagement with the Keenes, and they could hardly be expected to give. him up. It would not be surprising should they get together to-morrow, sign articles and post the money.

The other stakes on the card, the light welter over the grass course, also went to the Messrs, Keene, their filly Orchis winning after a spirited race. Results: First Race-Five furlongs. Close Call for Nancy Hanks.

New York, Aug. 20.-By a change in the programme at Fleetwood Park, to-day, the first of the Grand Circuit meeting passed off very quiesly. The storm of last night had made the track soft, besides playing some havoc about the clubhouse. The management decided to postpone the free-for-all trot, as the horses were not likely to get anywhere near their speed on the heavy track. This was a great disappointment to the spectators. Only one of the two classes decided, the 2:20 pace, was at all closely contested, so that the beginping of the meeting was not up to Grand Circuit form. There were not many persons in the big stand, as the uncertain weather and the attractions at Copey island naturally kept down the attendance. While the three-year-old trotters were on the track preparing for a start. Nancy Hanks was shown on the quarter stretch. she skimmed passed the crowd amid aplause and Doble came back rather slowly o acknowledge the salute. As he raised his hat, the three youngsters trotted toward him at a smart rate and Nancy Hanks was directly in the path of the outside one. Cornelia Howard. The two horses met just opposite the clubmind displayed by Young Pratt with his filly, a serious accident might have occurred to the Queen of Trotters. The two alkies collided, but Nancy Hanks escaped minry. The driver of Cornelia Howard. however, was thrown out, and the filly lashed for the cooling-off sheds, where she res promptly caught. Doble acknowlfred the fault to be entirely his own.

When the 2:20 pacers were called seven t the eight off the card answered the bell. oggy won the first heat, but Little Daisy had been laid up, and she became a favorite at 5 to 4 on before the second heat. She had everything her own way after this and on the next three heats in good style. ith only a trio of three-year-olds compete for the purse opened winter the race appeared to a sure thing for Double Cross pondage went away fast, and when of that measure.

From there the California trotter came steadily and outfooted the son of Antonio to the wire in 2:214. The next two heats were much slower, and Double Cross had a long lead in both. Summaries:

Will Kerr Didn't Go,

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. Columbus, Ind., Aug. 29 .-- The first day of the races at this place drew a large crowd. The track was in good condition and the weather fine. There was an unusual amount of betting, and the day ended with the advantage decidedly in favor of the bookmakers. Only two of the four favorites won. For some reason Will Kerr was withdrawn from the 2:14 pace just before the race was called, Henry F. then became favorite, but he could not win.

Sr. Louis, Aug. 29.-At 8 o'clock this morning the machinery of the tin-plate mill and stamping works of the St. Louis Stamping Company was set in motion after an idleness of several weeks. Mr. W. F. Niedringhaus, the proprietor, has agreed to sign the Amalgamated scale next Thursday, with the proviso that his signature is void if the tariff on material is altered. I hope my action will be the means of relieving those who are embarrassed.
